

Exhibit E - Sensations

Sex is a subject that is sometimes difficult to talk about. Many of us have learned to be inhibited and secretive about our sexuality. At SENSATIONS we think this is unfortunate. Openness about sex can assist people in discovering the pleasure, excitement, and plain fun of sexuality. Our videocassettes and marital aids are designed to help you "open up" your sex life in just this way - to educate, stimulate, and facilitate better sex for you and your partner. These films give you the opportunity to explore the many variations in sexual behavior and fantasy.

Our video films present compilations of scenes of adults engaged in explicit sexual intimacy. They are designed to present the sex acts and fantasies you may be interested in viewing and learning more about. Because we are committed to a healthy exploration of sexuality, a team of psychologists review our videocassettes to ensure that they do not appeal to a prurient or unhealthy type of interest in sex. There is never any violence, nor are there words or actions that are demeaning to men or women. There is no profanity, depictions of pain or domination associated with sex, bestiality, or references to children. Our films have scientific value because they offer information on human sexual activity and may help individuals to become more comfortable with certain acts, thus leading to greater sexual fulfillment.

The marital aids and sex toys offered in our catalog can provide you and your partner with new sources of exciting sensations! Sex toys can invigorate your sex life and add heat to relationships that may have cooled off. They can also provide more satisfying orgasms and greater fulfillment. These aids can also reduce pressure for sexual performance. This sort of pressure is often associated with sexual dysfunctions.
